Claims and Litigation Management Alliance Announces the Formation of CLM Advisors — Its New Consulting and Advisory Group

New York, NY — The Claims and Litigation Management (CLM) Alliance is pleased to announce the formation of its new consulting and advisory group — CLM Advisors. CLM Advisors will be the premier source for consulting services to the claims and litigation management industry and furthers the CLM's mission to provide resources, education and expertise.

CLM Advisors' services are focused in three main areas: advisory and consulting, market intelligence, and talent acquisition. Advisory and consulting engagements are focused on clients' individual needs and can include areas such as the development or evaluation of litigation practices, or operational assessments and strategic planning. Market intelligence studies can help clients identify industry best practices and opportunities for improvement. As the most connected resource in the industry, CLM Advisors can also help executives find the right professionals for their open positions.

"The launch of CLM Advisors is exciting for the CLM," says Adam Potter, Executive Director of the CLM. "The CLM has always served as a resource to our members, fellows and the industry. We can now offer a broader range of services at a much more detailed level."

Each member of CLM Advisors brings exceptional leadership experience and a track record of success in the claim and litigation management arenas. "We've assembled a group that includes some of the most talented and experienced professionals in the industry," says Taylor Smith, President, CLM Advisors. "We're thrilled with the level of expertise we can now offer to the market."

The CLM Advisors include:

- Jim Briggs, former vice president of operations and systems for AIG Claims and Litigation Management, and previously head of business transformation initiatives at Aetna and The Hartford
