

Successful Defense to Zoning and Development Attack

Representing a national developer, Scott Mueller and Anne Kelly successfully obtained the dismissal of a disgruntled resident neighbor and neighborhood association that contested the development of a premium 20 lot development in St. Charles County, Missouri. Over the course of many years, Plaintiffs attacked the development on every level, requiring planning and zoning advocacy, litigation and motion practice and municipal and political appeal to resolve the time-sensitive and lucrative venture. Galloway's St. Louis office attorneys obtained the consent judgments of all co-parties before finally resolving the "hold out" contestor and securing the dismissal of the litigation and approval of the Municipal board of aldermen and zoning commission.
