

Joe Hassinger Elected Fellow of American College of Civil Trial Mediators

Established in 1995, the American College of Civil Trial Mediators is a non-profit association of professional mediators. College Fellows are selected for membership by invitation through a comprehensive application process based upon their experience, skills, reputation, ethical standards, and commitment to alternative dispute resolution. The College accepts members who have clearly demonstrated years of working in the field at the highest level of achievement. Consistent with its purpose, the College has a select membership with approximately 150 mediators nationwide. "I am privileged to be a part of this esteemed group," Mr. Hassinger said. Joe is a mediator with MAPS, mediating and arbitrating cases in Louisiana and Mississippi.
