

Cyber Liability Trends 2022

The past couple years have seen significant changes in the cyber liability landscape. While the regulatory landscape is always changing, COVID-19 altered the way many employees perform job functions. With the rise of a remote workforce, companies changed the way in which they operate. Not surprisingly, the move toward a remote work environment exposed companies to additional liability and risk from nefarious actors.

Fortunately, there are some basic and effective steps a company can take to mitigate its cyber risk. Click HERE to read more.
