ABOUT GREG

As a former General Counsel of large corporate interests, Greg has a unique perspective and understanding of corporate needs as both an outside practitioner and running the legal departments from inside the corporate entity.

Additionally, as a former Vice President of an aviation Insurance Company, his experience and insights from being inside an insurance company and an outside practitioner have helped him to quickly assess a case and develop a litigation plan to achieve the desired outcome.

Greg's work ethic is set apart by his passion to represent his clients in every step of the legal process.
