ABOUT SUZETTE

Suzette N. Turner is a litigator defending transportation and energy clients operating throughout Texas. Based in Galloway's Dallas and Houston offices, she is relationship-focused, detail-oriented, and thrives in high-stakes environments. Suzette's practice focuses on trucking, construction defect, and oil and gas matters, with previous experience defending transportation matters in the railroad sector.

Suzette is adept at translating complexity into clarity while being practical and relentless in pursuing favorable results for her clients. Her litigation and regulatory background give her the foundation to anticipate risk, understand issues and their effects, and deliver solutions that are both legally sound and commercially pragmatic. Suzette crafts strategies that instill confidence and hold up to scrutiny. Above all, she takes pride in her interpersonal skills and believes connecting with others is a critical component of effective advocacy and successful persuasion.

Suzette grew up in Colorado, and she spent formative years in Mississippi, crediting her love of connecting with people to Southern hospitality. Outside of the office, she enjoys early morning training at the gym, hiking, hunting, and camping.
